

For two years of our lives, Peace College is the place we call "Home." The food is a little different and we have more sisters, but all in all, Peace becomes a vital part of each of us. And we become part of the Peace Family. For two special and all too short years, it's a place where professors care enough to take fifteen minutes out of their coffee break to explain a math problem, a moment in history, or a concept in psychology. It's where even the President takes time to talk or joke with you whenever you meet. It is the place where we are able to make many, many lifetime friends as we are growing, learning, and achieving goals we have set for ourselves and for our future. Peace College, "Home," offers the support, the encouragement, the time, and the love of a family. Peace helps each and every single one of us to become exactly what we wish to become.

Girls + Smiles = Peace

Everyday Life

Peace Is ...

- A warm hug from a special friend
- The birds singing and flittering around the fountain on a beautiful blue-sky day
- A fresh barrel of chocolate chip mint ice cream
- Finding an empty washer when you're down to your last clean pair of socks
- A caring faculty
- Getting a box full of mail
- The majestic, romantic columns at Main
- An understanding smile when you're down
- The Christmas love-chain
- Praise for even your smallest achievement
- 124 years of tradition
- A hall celebration for everything from a birthday party to a longawaited phone call
- Immaculate sidewalks
- The switchboard on Valentine's Day
- Awaiting your pizza at 11:58 p.m.
- Being able to be yourself

The little everyday things we often take for granted are sometimes what we end up appreciating the most in life. To us, this makes up an atmosphere of caring and sharing; to us — this makes up Peace.

Time Out

To a freshman, coming to Peace also means coming to Raleigh. As a sophomore, you're glad to be back to both after the summer. The capital city has many entertainment areas and several indispensable night spots to suit every type or taste. Here at Peace, a few of the more obvious favorites include Crazy Zacks. Edward's, and Fraternity row. Peace is as much a part of Raleigh as we are a part of Peace.

As Peace girls, however, we know that the fun can start right here on our own campus. Playing powder-puff football, sharing albums, taking walks, swapping clothes, and laughing and talking with friends are a few examples of the type of entertainment we all are able to find at school.

Wherever we may decide to spend those leisurely hours, after a long week of classes and persistent studying, we're always ready, on those oh-so-cherished weekends, to take some "Time Out."

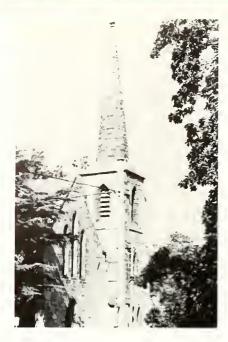

The uniqueness of Peace College is expressed in many ways: its 124 year history, its traditional and unique graduating ceremony, its principles, and its people, all play a part in the total picture of Peace today. Nestled away, shielded by magnolias and white columns from the hustle and bustle of the capital city, we cometimes forget that we're in metropolitan North Carolina. This in itself is another virtue of Peace: it is located in the cultural, entertainment, and governmental center of the state. Peace would not be the same without all the extras that Raleigh can offer. There is a wide variety of places to go, people to see, and things to do. Museums, ballets, Broadway productions, ethnic restaurants, roller-skating rinks, and huge malls represent just a few of the many different attractions of Raleigh. This kind of life can actually be very educational. For example, did you know that khaki's are cheaper at Cameron village than at North Hills: (that's Economics)? And you can really observe the beauty of nature at Pullen Park: that's your biology and art. All these make Peace a special place and make the Peace family special people.

Raleigh Life

Did you know that in 1909 the Senior Class colors at Peace were — yes — pink and green? It seems that fads are repeating themselves, doesn't it? We're seeing yesterday's fads again — classic clothes, clogs, penny loafers, and French braiding.

However, the wave of the 80's washed in several of its own new styles. The country-western craze has had a definite influence in the South. Here at Peace, a cowboy hat, boots, and other western wear are frequently first choice for Ed's and for other occasions.

Who could fail to mention the latest in prepstyle clothing — monogrammed everything, from pocketbooks to sweatshirts...L.L. Beans...Topsider tennis shoes...a canvas belt to suit your taste...coordinating ribbons? Then, to top it all off, gold, gold, gold.

The wardrobe wouldn't be complete without something bearing your favorite college insignia. Sweatshirts, gym shorts, t-shirts, and buttons can sport a purple and gold ECU pirate, a Davidson wildcat, a Wake Forest Deacon, a Duke Blue Devil, a Wolfpacker, a Carolina blue ram, and definitely — the Peace Green Giant!

All our fads here at Peace are not clothes fads, however. Some popular pastimes include sunning on Peace Beach, throwing friends in the fountain. popping popcorn, and playing beach music hour after hour. Keeping up with and taking part in all these crazy, fun fads make up a vital part of student life for us all here at Peace.

Main Attractions

Student Life

As little as some of us may like it, we are here at Peace College to study. But really, learning is more than merely studying. Coming to Peace is the fulfillment of the opportunity to learn. Most of us want to learn and therefore strive to understand and accept new concepts. Studying gives us the chance to prove that we are capable of applying ourselves and utilizing our time as needed. And in our achievement, new doors open to us, giving us confidence that we can go on.

An academically impressive staff carefully plans each class meeting to use our time to its fullest. In addition, each of them is dedicated to help any student outside class with concepts they do not understand. The close contact in our relatively small classes helps us grow. Teachers become real friends and not just people with chalk in their hands and tests in their briefcases. It is their hope, as well as ours, that we make the most of, and take part in, the benefits offered by Peace, that we get the most from the Peace experience.

Christianity in Practice

Since Peace is a Presbyterian college, it is dedicated to Christian principles. When we speak of Peace and its Christian purpose, we tend to think first of the Wednesday morning chapels or the freshman religion exams we've all taken. In reality, however, Peace emphasizes Christian ideals in every part of our daily lives. Each Wednesday morning, Mr. Thomas tells us colorful stories with thought-provoking ideas. His meaningful advice applies to all of us in some way. Often about unnamed Peace girls, his sermons could be talking about any of us.

Life at Peace reflects genuine Christian attitudes. Here we experience the love and concern of friends and faculty, and a high respect for moral principles. Admittedly, some of us complain about the rules, but many are glad that there are these rules and ideals to guide us. Without them, Peace would not be the special and unique place it is. It is for these virtues in themselves that many of us chose Peace College above all the others.

Here I am in Raleigh, only a phone call or a letter away from home. My thoughts and heart often drift towards that special place I love so much and to the people that make it so special, you, my parents.

I know that without your love for me, I would not be here at Peace. I thank you for offering me this opportunity to learn and to grow, and for continuing to support me throughout my college life. Thank you also for endlessly encouraging me and wanting me to be, not only your daughter, but also an independant, mature young woman.

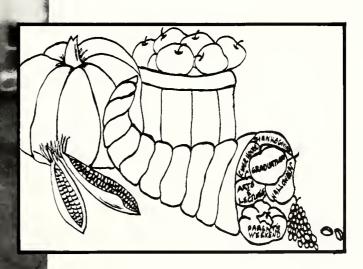

I want you to know that the years of your patience, kindness, generosity, and discipline were not wasted, but have helped me to become the person I am today. Just listening to and sharing with me my experiences at Peace, which are so much a part of me, have shown me that you will always be there and can be counted on whenever I need you.

Therefore, it is to express our deep appreciation for the years of unceasing love you've given that we dedicate the 1981 edition of the Lotus to the ones we love most — you — Mom and Dad!

I love you!

Dear Mom and Dad,

It's hard for me to realize that my two years at Peace have finally come to a close. The beautiful graduation ceremony was really the way to top off these special years. Graduation 1980 was a lot like the ones of the previous 123 years - long, white dresses and red-rosebud bouquets, administration, faculty, and students filing down the sidewalks to find their seats. speeches, awards, tears, applause, hugs, more tears. applause, hugs, more tears, and lots of excitement. Yet this ceremony, this graduation, was different: it was especially for me and my class. It meant so much to have you and the rest of the family there to share this honor with me.

I can't say that the day was all happiness, though, because I hated saying good-bye to so many true friends. But, I know that what I'm taking with me as I leave Peace is more valuable than anything I could ever find again. Here, I've acquired knowledge, fellowship, confidence in my future, friends, and most of all, good memories, memories that I will always cherish and keep in a special place within my heart.

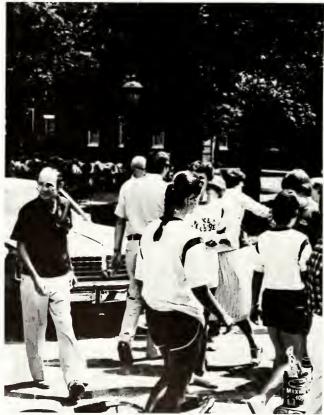

Love, The Graduate

Freshman Orientation

Dear Mom and Dad,

A year at Peace is filled with so many things, and it all begins with Freshman Orientation. Although those two words may have a different meaning to every girl at Peace, we know that much anticipated day has finally come! The day that we actually begin college! With this anticipation often comes a few frustrations and fears: for example, "How are we ever going to get all this stuff into our little room?" or "What meeting am I supposed to be in now?" Confusion, excitement, sadness, and surprises fill these first couple of weeks. But soon, things begin to settle down, we make friends, real friends, and we easily fit in and find our special place at Peace. During orientation, we are swiftly swept into the lifestyle here. but soon, we all discover that Peace becomes a part of us, and us — a part of Peace.

Periodically within the year, Peace is honored to have many special guests visit the campus through its Arts and Lectures series. The variety of programs scheduled includes speakers such as Guy Owen and William E. Leuchtenburg, and musicians such as the talented Soprano Penelope Jensen, Oboist J. M. A. Danby, and the Raleigh Chamber Players from the North Carolina Symphony. Each program offers Peace girls, and often the Raleigh community, the opportunity to hear enriching programs. Each performance proves to be, not only a lesson in the arts, but an hour or two of fine entertainment.

Art of the Month

Unknown to most, many of the art students of Mrs. Linda Fitz-Simmons work hours each day in the lab developing their talents. A few of these girls are selected for the honor of having their work receive the title of Art of the Month. They are picked by all of the art students who vote in several catagories for their choice of the best art work done during the preceding month. The winning works are then displayed for everyone to admire and enjoy. This honor not only recognizes lots of hard work, but also some of the many talented girls at Peace.

PARENT'S WEEKEND

One of the most fun-filled weekends I spent at school was Parent's Weekend. I was so glad that Mom and Dad could come up! There were so many things for us to do. We started off the morning going to mini-classes. This gave all the parents a chance to meet our teachers and get a sample of the types of classes we are taking. Then, we had a warm welcome by President Frazier, which was followed by a delicious luncheon. After our meal and some free time, the big event came — the Freshman-Sophomore powder-puff football game. I could not believe it; the freshman won! It was an exciting battle!

Ballgames always work up a hunger, so afterwards, we had a picnic on the back lawn. This gave each of the parents time to visit and to meet all of our friends. The Variety Show, on Saturday night, gave our parents a chance to see all the talent at Peace. To finish off the night, and the diets, we had a super make-your-own sundae party.

The next morning, Mom and Dad got to hear Mr. Thomas speak just as we do in Wednesday Chapel. This service was followed by the President's breakfast. It was hard to believe, as I downed my orange juice and scrambled eggs, that it was already time for my parents to leave. So glad they had the chance, this year, to join me and the Peace Family in a wonderful weekend especially for them.

Halloween

People say that the girls who go to Peace are very pretty; well, they would have had their doubts if they could have been here Halloween. Just on my hall alone we had a mummy and a baby mummy, a witch, a cowboy, a hula girl, a flapper, and one girl on crutches who went as a girl in a cast. I guess you might say that Peace College let its collective hair down for one wild supper. I must say that we had some original costumes. This was one time we didn't have to worry if we looked nice. It was fun being a kid again. I only wish that I could have gone Trick or Treating.

Hostages . . . Day 365

November 4, 1980, marked the one-year anniversary of the fifty-two American hostages held captive in Iran. This important date could not be and was not to be ignored by those of us at Peace College. A reverent and meaningful service, the only one of its kind in the Raleigh area, was held on this day in the James Dinwiddle Chapel. Student speakers gave concerned messages of hope to all who attended, and a collection was taken which was to be sent to the hostages' families. The service was followed by a candlelighting ceremony around the fountain in front of Main.

In addition to the Tuesday night service, everyone continued to show her concern by wearing the symbolic yellow ribbons. By each of these actions, the Peace family wanted to express the respect, hope, and love we all felt for the hostages during this difficult and trying time.

Cider House

Cider House is presented annually by the staff members of the Prism, Peace's literary magazine. This year's Cider House was held on the evening of November 18. Everyone attending enjoyed hot cider and gingerbread as student and professional poets recited, sang, and presented dramatic monologues. An impromptu sing-along was also featured. This program allows all of us at Peace College to see the creative talents we have on campus. It is for this reason that Cider House is one event you wouldn't want to miss.

Chicken Soup with Barley

For four exciting nights at the end of fall, the crowds came, the lights went up, and the stage filled with enthusiastic young actors and actresses. From October 29 to November 1, the Peace College Theatre Arts Group presented Chicken Soup with Barley. This play is a drama by Arnold Wesker, set in London in the mid-1930's to the late 50's. It involves a Jewish working-class family and other followers of the communist party and Socialist movements in England. Yet, as Beth Harris, who played the lead as "Sarah" comments, the play's underlying theme is 'people's disillusionment with people." "As the years progress", Beth adds, "you see how the characters lose their ideals and hopes for society." Sarah, however, is one who is able to maintain her strong conviction in her party.

An intriguing and sometimes complicated play, Chicken Soup with Barley was presented under the direction of Dr. Terrence McGovern. Others performing from Peace were Laurel Brooks, Mary Tully, Janis Baron, and Laura Lambert. Sophomore Marjorie Garner held the position of assistant director.

For all involved, the weeks of rehearsal, memorizing, and anticipation proved to be worthwhile, for the play was a success.

The Medieval Banquet here at Peace will take you back to the times of fair maidens, servants, surfs, and trolls. All of the French students, with the aid of Dr. Emily DeLuca, prepare and make this dinner as true to history as possible. For example, at this banquet, there are no china plates, napkins, or comfortable chairs. Instead, only wooden bowls and knives are used for eating, and everyone is seated on crude wooden benches. If you enjoy pig pickins and fish cookouts, then you may appreciate the unique way in which these main dishes were prepared, served, and eaten during Medieval times and for our dinner.

To add to the atmosphere, candles are used for light, and hay is spread across the floor. Also, little dogs scamper about while each of the advanced students tell a Medieval tale. With such an extraordinary setting, it is clear to see why, for most of us attending, this banquet was an unforgettable experience.

Medieval Banquet

Thanksgiving is supposed to be a time for giving thanks, and here at Peace it is no different. We had a huge and delicious buffet, but I felt like giving thanks for more than just the good food. I wanted to thank God for allowing me to be your daughter, and for allowing me the chance to come to Peace College. I know I gripe and complain about the homework and rules, but I really do love Peace. It is kind of hard to love any school with exams approaching, but one day I'll look back and appreciate the friends, the experiences, the education, and all the other things that make up the two years at Peace College. But for right now I am content and thankful for you, and for the chance to be living these days to the fullest so that one day I can look back on them with fond memories.

Thanksgiving

Well, before you know it I will be home for Christmas. I really am looking forward to it. But here at Peace, they have also made Christmas very special. The Chain that starts on the third floor of Ross and winds up and down every hall of every floor of every dorm, literally joins all of us together. It is sometimes tiring and a little scary, tearing down four flights of stairs, being pulled by 200 girls, and pulling 200 more, but it is a lot of fun. Then afterwards, we all gather around the fountain to sing Christmas carols. Everybody links arms and sways together as one group. I can really see what they mean now when they call Peace a family. And then, as we all head back to the books, I look back and see the beauty of the luminaries lining the walks in front of Main and really feel good about being a part of Peace College. Yes, Mom and Dad, I can't wait to get home, but I wouldn't have missed Christmas at Peace for anything.

BASKETBALL

ORIGIN — Basketball was founded in December 1891 by James A. Naismith in the Springfield, Massachussetts Y.M.C.A., where he was an instructor.

OBJECTIVE — To shoot the basketball into the opposition's basket by means of foul shots (one point) or from the field (two points).

PLAYING OF THE GAME — Enthusiatic, hardworking, and successful describe the 1980-81 Peace College Basketball team. The team, composed of twelve young women from North Carolina and Virginia, spent much time in sweat pants and jerseys practicing defensive moves and shooting skills in order to tower over their opponents.

"Although the team was young and inexperienced, we played hard and gave each game our best," stated Coach Susan Cox. Having only three seniors on the team was viewed as an asset because the freshmen gained quite a lot of experience at the college level. Miss Cox recognized the many contributions of the seniors who will be greatly missed: Debbie Benton (captain), Betsy Covington (captain), and Liddy Swing.

Sharon Dunston (50) and Betsy Covington (20) display their defensive talent in a win against Anderson.

Many long hours of practice pay off as the Giants warm up before a game.

Towering over Anderson's defense, sophomore Debbie Benton adds points to the Peace College scoreboard.

A great amount of concentration is obvious, while Kelly Key displays a unique style.

Tennis — Bernetta Sydnor (manager), Tammy Allen, Kathy Naples, Leslie Lewis, Starla Bunker, Cindy Morgan, Rhonda Winstead, Laura Pileggi, Kelly Key, Coach Betty Ann Ford.

TENNIS

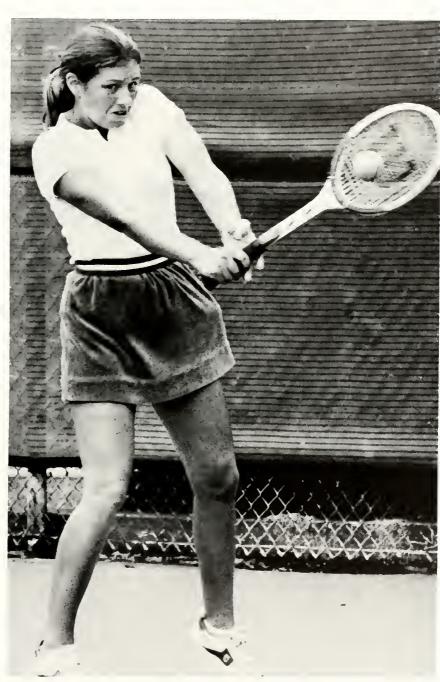

ORIGIN — In 1873, at a lawn party, Major Walter Clopton Wingfield introduced the sport to guests.

OBJECTIVE — To score points either by delivering an unreturnable shot or by forcing errors upon an opponent.

PLAYING OF THE GAME — Throughout the season, each of the eight players on the tennis team exhibited many important qualities. Two of these qualities were enthusiasm and a winning attitude. These characteristics led to the relative success of the Giant's season.

Coach Ford stated, "They were always willing to work hard, whether at practice or a match." The number three players were Starla Bunker, Kelly Key, and Leslie Lewis. Their many abilities, along with their accuracy, made them an asset to the team.

CHEERLEADERS

The enthusiasm and abilities which the Peace College cheerleaders possessed were witnessed by many people. Each cheerleader was willing to put forth individual effort in order for the squad to be effective. Many evenings were spent practicing new cheers and mounts. Bunny Murphy and Phyllis Smith co-headed the cheering squad. Phyllis summed up the season when she stated; "With the combination of four freshmen and five sophomores, spirit, enthusiasm, and school pride were all achieved, along with a successful 1980-81 cheering year."

The Peace cheerleaders discuss final plans before the game begins.

TO EACH HER OWN

Here at Peace College, there is something for everyone in the way of sports. The girls find both individual and group activities to participate in. Swimming, jogging, exercising, and Aerobic dancing are a few popular pastimes that Peace girls enjoy.

ABOVE — Suzanne Davis and Connie Lambeth enjoy jogging, which is common among Peace girls.

INTRAMURALS

Over the past year, intramurals have been lots of fun. This year the interest shown was at a maximum level. There was volleyball, softball, and basketball for those girls who enjoy team sports. For those girls who like participating with a partner, there was ping-pong, tennis, spades, Uno, and badminton. And for the art of playing one-on-one, there was backgammon, golf, archery, and monopoly. A swim meet and the Powder-Puff Football game sparked enthusiasm and competition to see which class was the best.

Miss Peace

Rhonda Winstead

When Rhonda Winstead was chosen Miss Peace 1981, we all knew that the right person had been chosen, for Rhonda truly deserves such an honor. All around Peace, we see her excelling in every aspect. She's outgoing and takes time to be a friend to all those in need. As president of the PSCA, she shows her dedication through all the responsibilities she encounters. Whether Rhonda is on or off campus, she is definitely a true representative of Peace College and all it stands for.

Outstanding Sophomores

In addition to other honors given at Peace each year, we students nominate eight outstanding sophomores. These girls are elected by their peers, both freshman and sophomore, on the basis of noteworthy contributions they have made to student life at Peace. Other attributes considered are leadership and academic, social, and personal qualities. Obviously, the girls chosen for this honor are highly thought of by all.

Who's Who

This year, ten young women from Peace were named to Who's Who Among America's Junior Colleges. Selected by the administration and faculty, each girl was chosen on the basis of several requirements. These included her academic record, her participation and leadership in student activities, and her potential for the future. All of these girls have displayed their capabilities well in each area and have definitely made a marked contribution to life at Peace, making themselves well qualified for this special honor.

Cindy McGinnis - President

All that studying finally paid off: I was finally inducted into Phi Theta Kappa, the honor society here at Peace. This is my chance to be recognized for my scholastic achievements.

I'm excited about the activities we have planned for the year. We hope to donate something to the library to help other students obtain our same success. But being a member of this fraternity isn't all work; we recently paid a visit to the dinner theatre to see "Fiddler on the Roof." And the faculty has invited us to attend their monthly seminars where there always is an interesting guest speaker present. This is truly an opportunity for intellectual growth. Don't you think?

I guess the thing I like most about being a member of Phi Theta Kappa is simply the fellowship it provides. My fellow members are a very special group of girls.

Be sure to tell Grandma the good news.

As you know, one of the best parts of being a freshman comes at the very end of the year. All the days of going to classes, taking notes, studying and worrying about tests finally paid off. It was really a great honor to be selected as a a marshal for graduation. Many of the sophomores were our friends and, as Beth Early said, "It was a good way to serve the sophomores and be a part of their graduation ceremonies." Another marshal, Karen Roberson, summed it all up in saying, "Being a marshal has been a lot of work, but has been a great joy." It was really nice to be recognized in this way. Karen, Beth, Olivia Taylor, Cindy McGinnis, Lisa Smith, Lisa Jesoranski, Wanda Crump, and Sarah Friday were selected on the basis of firstsemester freshman averages. We helped usher the graduates during the Baccalaureate Service and at the beautiful graduation ceremony. I am sure this experience at Peace will be one we will always remember fondly.

May Queen

For Emily Carlton — as May Queen — and Phyllis Smith — as Maid of Honor, the thrill and excitement of such an honor has been overwhelming. The two were chosen on the basis of their appearance and personality. Emily really feels privileged to have this honor bestowed upon her by her friends. As for Phyllis, she also feels it is an honor and such a pleasant surprise. Both Emily and Phyllis really deserve the honor, Mom, and we all think so too!

Sigma Delta Mu

Sigma Delta Mu is a national honor society in Spanish for two-year colleges and the first three semesters of four-year colleges and universities. Its primary purpose is to honor those who seek and attain excellence in the study of Spanish and the literature and culture of Spanish-speaking people. The requirements for Sigma Delta Mu are very high. To be a member, a student must: be enrolled in the second semester or higher; be in good standing; be genuinely interested in things Hispanic; have a minimal grade-point average of 3.00 in Spanish; and rank in the upper 35% of her class or have at least a 2.75 overall. As you can see, being a member of this club is really an honor.

Well, Mom and Dad, this concludes my letter to you. I hope that by way of my descriptions of our organizations, honors, and events, I have helped you, as well as anyone else reading this, in getting to know and love Peace as much as I do.

All my love, Your Peace girl

PSGA

PSGA has really been going well so far this year. I think that a major reason for this is that so many people are participating in PSGA activities. This shows they really care about the welfare of others and the welfare of the College. These people willingly give their time so that they and other people involved in this institution might also benefit as much as possible. I feel privileged and proud to be a part of PSGA and to work with such a fine group of girls. It is amazing how much talent there is here at Peace, in so many different areas. There is a place for each individual to apply herself at Peace in her own unique way. Because of the existing enthusiasm, I am really excited about the remainder of events this year.

Rhonda Winstead - President of PSCA

PSCA has been going great! Being president has really been a special part of my life this year. The projects PSCA sponsors give me and the other cabinet members a very warm feeling because we are able to lead in promoting Christian fellowship on the campus and within the Raleigh community. All of the cabinet members have been super! They always support me in my ideas and are constantly coming up with creative ideas. The Thanksgiving and Christmas services, along with activities such as "Peanut Week," help the students here to develop friendships and provide Christian growth.

Also, many girls represent Peace by being tutors for the Salvation Army and Halifax Court, and some work in volunteer services within the community. The PSCA has provided many services and activities to help students learn what it means to be a Christian.

I have really enjoyed my time at Peace. I have grown and matured, but most of all I have learned about myself. They have a saying here, "We are Peace, we are one," and it does not only mean the basketball team, but also academics and other activities. Intramurals are not to be excluded from this; and being a member of PSRA, I have improved my own skills. I have also met many new friends that I might not have met otherwise. Being members of the PSRA, we have all seen the other side of the faculty through the participation in the intramurals. We try to spread enthusiasm, not only to the representatives, but also to the players. We have seen this by a handshake or a pat on the back after each activity. Mom and Dad, it is not only whether you play well or badly, but that you had fun with others. This semester, we have had volleyball, softball, ping-pong, tennis, plus other activities. I think it is going to be a close race this year.

Susan Mitchell - President of PSRA

I wanted to write and let you know now things are going. The other day I realized that being a member of the Honor Court at Peace has helped me to see more facets of life than I ever realized existed. Now I know how you felt when had to discipline me when I was at home. It isn't easy to decide on punishments for friends that I have come to know. Yet in order to have an environment which will be pleasing to everyone, this job is necessary. I am sure everyone realizes that the purpose of the Honor Court is to uphold the Honor Code and pledge, and to maintain the highest standards at Peace, of which we are all proud.

RESIDENTS ASSISTANTS

Just a quick note to let you know how things are going. First of all, my classes are getting tough, but this is to be expected. Now the good news! All of the Resident Assistants are doing great this year. You see, I have had many girls come to me and express their appreciation and gratitude for the jobs well done by the R.A.'s. It really makes me feel good to hear such praise for the girls because I am sure they deserve it. I think we have such a good group this year.

What is really the most pleasing is the many friendships each of us have developed through being Resident Assistants. Not to mention just the friendships between the R.A.'s, but all of the girls on our separate floors that we have gotten to know. It seems that each of us is in charge — or rather "Mothers" — to our girls on our floor. I know that I feel like a "mom" at times, but that is fun. We are to be there to listen, to guide if possible, and to just be a friend if nothing more. Sometimes it can get hectic, but somehow we all manage. Most of all, I can say that all of us are doing our best, and that is all anyone can do or ask for. Plus, just being ourselves is the best thing these girls need here.

Well, let me go. I have to go talk to Dean Edwards, our advisor. She can always help us when we have nowhere to turn. I guess you could call her our "Mom."

President of Resident Assistants - Phyllis Smith

Pam Vawter, Teresa Murphy, Anne Bagwell, Vicki Fields, Beth Sedberry.

NON-RESIDENTS

Most any day, when you pass by the Rec Room, the majority of the girls you see are non-residents. The Rec room is our headquarters for a quick snack in between classes or for catching up on the latest news about that gorgeous guy at State.

The non-residents at Peace are a busy group of girls. All of our time and energy is not spent chatting in the Rec Room. We place flowers in the Chapel at Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter, and we are active participants in clubs, intramurals, and athletics. In fact, one non-resident is a guard on the basketball team. The four bake sales we sponsor throughout the year are always heartily enjoyed by the student body.

During the fall we have a get-together with the faculty. Then in the spring, we have a cookout at Pullen Park for ourselves.

Obviously, the Peace College Family would not be the same without the non-residents.

CHAMBER SINGERS

This year's Chamber Singers are really going places. We are traveling again this year to many locations in North Carolina, including Lincolnton, Ahoskie, Charlotte, and Raleigh. We are a select group of girls, for each of us had to audition and then was chosen on the basis of her ability. We perform a high grade of music, sung mostly acapella.

We're all so excited about the European tour this summer. It will be a great chance to see another part of the world, and it will be wonderful to sing in some of Europe's most beautiful churches. I'm looking forward to sharing such a wonderful experience with such a great group of people. We're glad, too, to be under the leadership of Jim Smith, who makes hard work and long road trips fun.

CHOIR

What would Wednesday morning chapel be without our own Peace College Choir? Or Christmas? This talented chorus of girls devote much of their time to practicing and performing for us at Peace and for others at various functions. Directed by Mr. Jim Smith, the choir adds flavor and entertainment to our sometimes hectic lives. The hard work they put into their weekly anthems always proves worthwhile! We are very lucky to have a choir such as this on campus.

Front — Leslie Murphy, Robin Lawson, Anne Clayton, Robin Pulley, Beth Cameron, Jane Morgan. Back — Sandra Moore, Sandy Brendell, Nina Beth Daughteridge, Jeannie Blake, Margaret McNeill, Cindy Munsey, Candy Lawrence, Tracey Edmundson, Karen Roberson.

Seated - April Snow, Quincy Foil. Standing - Sandra Moore, Margaret McNeill.

PIANO ENSEMBLE

At Peace, there is a wide variety of talent. One group of girls, especially, possesses a tremendous amount of musical ability. Years of lessons (the average number is nine or ten), practicing, and performing at the piano, have brought Sandra, Quincy, April, and Margaret much satisfaction. Lead by Mrs. Black, the group does sight-readings, goes to concerts, listens to music, plays duets, and performs at recitals throughout the year. The Piano Ensemble gives these girls the opportunity to share their gifts with the Peace family.

DRAMA CLUB

The drama club has been a real help this year in aiding the drama productions. The club's primary function is publicity for the shows. They've done a good job this year with ticket sales and with putting up posters in suggested store windows. Some members even helped at the last minute with set-building and arranging lights. Hopefully, the group will get into some extra activities, like going to The Village Dinner Theatre. Most of all, the drama club has given the group a sense of having helped with each production, even though their work is mainly behind the scenes.

DAUGHTERS AND GRANDDAUGHTERS

I feel that the Daughters and Granddaughters Club shows a great deal of school loyalty. We are a special group of girls who have had some of our family attend Peace in previous years. It has been fun this year sharing stories with new friends about how Peace was years ago. Trimming the traditional Christmas tree in Main, visiting the Governor's mansion, and eating in the President's dining room will be just some of the memories we will pass on to our children, with the hopes that they will love Peace as much as you and I did, Mom.

PORPOISE CLUB

The Porpoise Club has been a great way to exercise and perform swim routines throughout the year. We have spent such time practicing strokes, learning stunts, and sculling. The most rewarding aspect of this club is our water ballet show in the spring. Please try to make it to our show!

Fire Marshals

If you like surprises, Peace has really got a good one for you - our famed fire drills! One or two times a year, the fire marshals and only a few others are expecting a drill. It can come at any time, any hour, and in any weather. The job of the fire marshal is one of responsibility. We are to see that everyone has picked up the essentials as she runs outside - a towel, raincoat, flashlight, and hard-soled shoes. As a good safety practice, the fire drills serve an important function at Peace. The fire marshals are there to aid in this measure. Even if it's late at night and everyone's in bed, the fire drills usually prove to be a fun adventure.

Mailroom Workers

Edie Shell, Olivia Bryant, Stephanie Paradeses, Susan Vick, Gretchen Stephenson, Megg Potter.

ROSS HOSTESSES

The Ross hostesses are a group of girls who give their time, throughout the week, to carry out an important job at Peace. There isn't a night that goes by that no student has a visitor. The hostesses work in the evenings, in Ross Dormitory, greeting newcomers and old faithfuls to our campus, then announcing those words we often long to hear, "You have a caller in the lobby." With this duty, we can clearly see how essential these girls and their jobs are.

SWITCH — BOARD OPERATORS

Some of the most congenial girls at Peace College can be found right at our front door. Yes, the switchboard operators are always there and ready to assist in a call, give directions, or take a few minutes out for a friendly chat. These girls work periodically during the evening hours, helping others. Without them we Peace girls would never know that we had waiting a message, a date, or even flowers. Thus the service of the switchboard operators is very much appreciated by us all.

HOME ECONOMICS

We are doing exciting things in the Home Economics Club this year. We have had a bake sale, and believe it or not, we are learning to cook! Also, we have been on a cheese tour and got to sample lots of delicious cheeses! Now, we are going to begin planning a spring fashion show. The club has provided opportunities of fellowship with other girls and has given us new insight into the world of Home Economics.

FBW

The Future Business Women's organization is new to our campus this year. Formerly the Future Secretaries of America, the club was reorganized to provide opportunities for all of the Business students at Peace and not just the secretarial ones. The FBW is sponsored by a panel of professional business men and women in the community. This panel meets with the members at certain times during the year to discuss specific areas within the working world. One exciting activity for the FBW is a field trip to a computer programming center in the Raleigh area. This club gives many girls the chance to see what careers and opportunities await them after their years at Peace.

OFFICE ASSISTANTS

Busy, that's one word that comes to mind when you think of the office assistants here at Peace. There are always letters to type, envelopes to address, tickets to sell, phones to answer, and hundreds of other things for us girls to do. Each of us spends several hours a week working for one of the faculty at school. Without office assistants, their job would be much more complicated. Being an office assistant does keep one busy, but most of us agree that, in the long run, it's actually a lot of fun.

LIBRARY ASSISTANTS

There are several girls at Peace who give their time to work in the Lucy Cooper Finch Library. We girls, the library assistants, need to have much knowledge about the Dewey Decimal System. We also must become familiar with the placement of books, films, tapes, and magazines, to show the people who need them. Since we also type, our typing skills improve tremendously. The job proves very interesting, and the things we learn from our work will be helpful in the future.

Front — Connie Lambeth. Sherry Parrish. Back — Angela Brown, Robin Lawson, Sandy Brendell, Lisa Jackson.

BIBLE STUDY

Bible Study is a group of girls who get together once a week to share. It is a great way to meet our needs for Christian fellowship while in school. Through it, we can share our thoughts and feelings about subjects relative to our daily lives. We look up scriptures to see what the Bible has to say about them and then, we discuss how to accept and cope with them. By listening and talking with each other, we learn many things that we will be able to use throughout our lives.

F.C.A.

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes is an exciting group on campus. Many of us are familiar with the fun of FCA from our high school days. Advised by Miss Betty Ford, the club invites anyone, not just athletes, to join in their programs. Having special speakers, sharing stories and songs, talking, listening, and enjoying fellowship make up some of their activities. Unique and meaningful friendships, with new acquaintances and especially with God, are able to grow here, making this group a vital part of many of us at Peace.

PEACE TIMES

The Peace Times is our way of expressing the various aspects of Peace College in print. It is hard work that only the editor and staff members know: the search for stories, meetings, deadlines, and the frustrations of layouts seem to be hopeless at times. But, when the final copy appears, the hard work and frustrations all seem worthwhile.

PRISM

Since I started working with the Prism. I feel that I am almost in a totally different college. Nearly every day, I see a new talent and really come to know the sensitivity and depth of emotion that is usually hidden in day-to-day life. And, the best part of it all is that I am discovering all this in my own close friends. It is exhilerating to see a whole new side of someone you know suddenly open to you in their writings and art work.

But, I don't want you to think that I am just sitting around broadening my horizons and receiving spiritual gratifications or anything. We have really been working to raise funds. In October, we sold popcorn, cokes, and cookies, and we had our Cider House presentation on November 18. It was a terrific success.

Publication is not completed yet, but from the looks of things, we will have a first-rate magazine. There is a contest with cash prizes which 'yours truly' may be entering. I will let you know how things progress next letter.

I am really excited about this year's annual. We have a dedicated and willing staff of over forty people. Many of them have had experience in high school, and the others are interested enough to have quickly learned the ins and outs of annual-making.

We became a part of the Lotus staff for several reasons. Most of us came to help for the fun of doing something besides studying, to get involved in a student activity, and to have the chance to meet new friends. Wanda Freeman, who is working on the Organizations Section, says, "Working on the yearbook gives me a sense of achievement, responsibility, and pride in knowing that I helped to create a memory book for the Class of '81." And Kyle Fuller, Freshman Class section editor. adds, "It has given me a chance to set and reach personal goals. This hard work makes the product finished worthwhile." I think all of us would agree with both of these girls. Stella McCullough, co-editor, and Debbie Rawls added two other explanations. Stella comments, "This job helps me to begin to understand what life and work will be like in the 'outside' world." And Debbie, who is working with the art section, says, "I enjoy being a part of the annual staff because I have a need to express myself creatively."

Whatever the reason, we have all been very busy putting together the pages of our Lotus. One member, in speaking for all of us at Peace — freshmen and sophomores — notes, "We keep many memories in our hearts, but having a book that we can look back on always brings back a special feeling inside." She is right! I think the annual is for all of us. I hope you like it, too!

Dear Mom and Dad,

Well, here I am, a sophomore. This is going to be a year of decisions. Should I go on to another college? If so, where? Should I get a job? Some of those responsibilities and difficulties you mentioned in connection with being an adult are starting to become evident. However, this is still college; and for now, I'm still a student, so I devote myself also to life here at Peace. Being a sophomore does not make school any easier, but it does mean that I am more comfortable at school. I still have plenty of work to do, and rules to abide by, but at least now this lifestyle is not totally new to me. As I said, this is a year of decisions, but with your strength and support behind me, I feel ready to begin stretching my wings, not away from you, but towards my future.

Love always, Your little girl

FRESHMEN

Dear Mom and Dad,

This year, I've found that a freshmen is just what the name implies: everything is new and exciting! All of life bursts with the wonder of college. The academics and the social life combined form a well-rounded atmosphere at Peace. I remember driving up in our car that first day, when you and I were warmly greeted with the enthusiastic smiles of the sophomores. They whisked my carload of "necessities" for the coming year up to my room in no time. I have found that the whole attitude of Peace is just like that day was — very warm, sensitive to each student's needs, and expedient in action. Peace has made this freshman's transition from home to college very easy.

In tribute to

Mary Pogue Schwertman

Mom and Dad, one of the great privileges in coming to Peace is meeting someone like Dr. Schwertman — scholar, teacher, friend. As a part of the Peace family she taught us, through word and deed, what it means to love learning, to live as a Christian, to be fully human.
